ELEGANCE, AND FIRE DEFENCE

Not a common association, but we have never believed the two should be mutually exclusive...
Introducing the new Contempo range from Commander®.

SOMETHING NEW

Forget those ugly red cans hung on the wall, or worse still – on big ugly red pastic stands. This is something new. This combines fire safety with the most exquisite hand-finished achitectoral finishes. This means you don't have to spoil your carefully-crafted interior design with mandatory fire equipment. This is Contempo by Commander®.

CONTEMPO – STAINLESS STEEL

With a superb highly polished finish, the Commander® Stainless Steel and Polished extinguishers are perfect for areas where appearance is important. Stainless steel handles – now standard across this range – complement the polished bodies perfectly. Stainless steel is one of the most corrosion-resistant metals known, as well as being very strong. This makes these units amongst the toughest available. Every individual part is corrosion-resistant, and the units are proven to last in even the harshest of environments.
